(4) Producer must comply with the filed certification in order to be eligible for grading and price support on baled tobacco and for price support on any tobacco produced on their farm. (5). Public Comment Sought on 1979 Feed Grains, Soybean Programs: The public has been asked to submit ideas and comments on decisions that need to be made on the 1979 feed grains and soybean programs.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of ASCS, said most of the decisions are to be made by Nov. 15.

Comments are asked concerning the following determinations to be made for the 1979 crops of corn, sorghum, barley and oats:

- whether barley and oats should be included in the feed grains program corn and surghum are required to be in the program);
- whether there should be a set-aside requirement, and if so, the proportion of acreage to be set-aside;
- whether there should be a land diversion program, and if so, the extent of such diversion and level of payment (if land diversion payments are made, producers will be required to devote to approved conservation uses an acreage of cropland equal to the amount of such land diversion);
- if a set-aside or land diversion program is required, whether a limitation should be placed on planted acreage; U. S. feed grain stock objective is set at 5.7 percent of world feed grain consumption, an amount judged to be our "fair" share of world feed grain stocks. Estimated the national program acreage required to meet this objective are requested, together with appropriate explanatory material,);
- the reduction required, if any, from previous year's harvested acreage to guarantee target price protection on total 1979 planted acreage (if the national program acreage for 1979 is less than the national harvested acreage for 1978, producers will be required to reduce acreage in 1979 to be eligible for full target price protection on 100 percent of their acreage.);
- the loan and purchase levels for the 1979 crops of corn, sorghum, barley, oats and rye, including commodity eligibility, storage requirements, premiums and discounts;
- established (target) prices; and
- Commodity Credit Corporation minimum resale price and other related provisions necessary to carry out the loan purchase and payments programs.

For soybeans, comments are asked on the loan and purchase levels for the 1979 crop. The determinaitons include commodity eligibility, storage requirements, premiums and discounts.

Comments should be sent to the activing director, Production Adjustment Division, ASCS, USDA, Room 3626 South building, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. To be assured of consideration, the comments need to be received no later than Oct. 6.

1978 is the first year that beef cattle producers have received profits since 1973. While there is general optimism within the industry, it is also a time of decision.

Let's look at the situation. Beef cow numbers are down 9% and beef replacement heifers are down 8% from a year ago. This reduction is expected to continue into the early part of next year. The cattle cycle that began in 1967 will probably come to an end in January, 1979.

Large supplies of broilers, turkeys and hogs will exert continuing pressure on fed cattle prices. Slaughter cattle prices which advanced from $40 to $60 in early summer have now backed off to $55. They should move up to $59 in March - April '79.

While feeder cattle prices have advanced, there has been little or no increase in input costs. A record carry-over corn crop is anticipated. A record - high soybean crop awaits harvest. Hay supplies are at new highs, locally. Price projections on choice 400-500 pound steer calves for this fall are $67. Feeder prices are expected to increase into the spring of 1979 - when choice 400 to 500 lb. steers are expected to average $76.

Now, to put some of this into perspective -- how will you manage this situation to get the greatest return:

- what is your feed situation? - will your cash flow situation permit you to carry over the '78 calf crop?
- can you borrow money to purchase liht-weight feeders?
- will your pasture carrying capacity allow you to graze these calves next summer, or must they be marketed in the spring?
- if it's necessary to purchase grain, are there adequate storage facilities? Assuming "yes" answers to these questions, here are some probable expectations based on what economists see today:

Fall '79 feeder prices are expected to be $2-$4 over the fall of '78. Thus, lightweight feeders (300-425 lbs.) purchased in the fall of 1978, overwintered and carried on grass to the fall of 1979 can expect a price of $66 for 600-700# and $64 for 700-800# range. Heifer prices are expected to be about 85% of steer prices and yearling heifer prices are expected to be about 97% of steer prices. Calves wintered from fall to sell in spring must put on 250# or more gain to return a profit at the prices we've talked about. These same feeders on a fall to fall program can be overwintered to gain only 125-150# during the summer for a profit. Remember, heifer calves may offer an advantage over steers if the price differential is less than 85%. There might be some money to be made in carrying heifers to the fall of '79, breeding them and offering replacement heifers. But this is another "ballgame" and takes a different level of management.

It's grape time in Virginia! It's also a good time to go to one of the eight vineyards around the State participating in the grape pick-your-own program this year. Harvest has begun and will continue through the later part of September with crops and quality good.

Grapes are delicious in so many ways--eaten out of hand, in salads; in jams, jellies and preserves; in wine; and in desserts.

When you get the grapes home and they are ripe, store them in the refrigerator until you are ready to use them.

TO CAN GRAPES: make light or medium syrup. Wash and drain grapes. Remove stems. Pour about ½ cup boiling syrup into hot jar. Fill jar with grapes. Shake jar to pack grapes closely without crushing, leaving ½-inch head space. Add more syrup, if needed, to cover grapes, leaving ½-inch head space. Adjust cap. Process pints 15 minutes, quarts 20 minutes, in boiling water bath.

TO FREEZE GRAPES: (whole or halves): Use firm, ripe grapes with tender skins and nice color and flavor. Wash and stem. Leave seedless grapes whole; cut other varieties in half and remove their seeds. For a dry pack with no sugar, leave appropriate headroom. Seal; freeze. For wet pack with syrup, cover grapes with cold 40 percent syrup leaving appropriate headroom. Seal; freeze.

GRAPE JUICE: Wash, stem, crush and measure fresh, firm-ripe grapes. Add 1 cup water to each gallon crushed grapes. Heat 10 minutes at 190 degrees F. (Boiling develops a poor flavor). Strain through cotton flannel, jelly bag or 4 layers of cheesecloth. (For a greater yield of juice, twist the two ends of the bag in opposite directions until most of the juice is extracted.) Let stand 24 hours in refrigerator. Strain again. Add 1 to 2 cups sugar to each gallon juice. Reheat to 190 degrees F. Pour, hot, into hot jars, leaving ¼ inch head space. Adjust caps. Process pints and quarts 15 minutes at 190 degrees F. in hot water bath.

TO MAKE JELLY: Measure 4 cups grape juice into a kettle. Add 3 cups sugar and stir well. Boil over high heat to 8 degrees F. above the boiling point of water, or jelly mixture sheets from a spoon. Remove from heat; skim off foam quickly. Pour jelly immediately into sterilized hot containers and seal. Makes 3 to 4 eight ounce glasses.

For a change of pace, why not try a grape pie. With such popular fruits for pies as cherries expected to be in short supply this winter, this recipe will be not only delicious but economical.

GRAPE PIE
Preheat oven to 450 degrees

4 cups blue grapes, stemmed
¾ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
1 tbls. grated orange rind
1 tbls. quick cooking tapioca
Any pie crust

Slip the pulp of the grapes out of the skins. Reserve the skins. Cook the pulp until the seeds loosen. Press through a colander to remove seeds. Combine the pulp, the skins, lemon juice, orange rind and tapioca. Permit these ingredients to stand for 15 minutes. Fill pie shell with the grape mixture and form a lattice of pastry over the top. Bake the pie for 10 minutes at 450 degrees, then lower the heat to 350 degrees and bake for about 20 minutes more. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

For more information on where to pick grapes, write to: The Grape Newsletter, Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, P. O. Box 1163, Richmond, Va. 23209.
